Sunday 15 August The Coombes Mosman Park

Just for a change a river dive! The Coombes is often dived as part of a course as it is virtually always diveable. There are a variety of things to see including some small wrecks which are normally teeming with life. Some are deeper at 22m so there is something for everyone. This is probably the easiest shore dive in terms of access as its literally only meters from the car park to water's edge. Meet in the car park at the end of the Coombes, off Saunders Street at 09:00.

Events for September 2010

Club Meeting & Quiz Night! (details pg. 9) — 8 September

Sunday 19 September Robb Jetty

Site is part of the old Robb Jetty meat processing works. The site is the remains of the jetty pylons that have been cut off some 1m above the bottom. Our last dive found a great variety of soft corals and their colourful companions including sea horses and that it is a nursery for Port Jackson sharks. See pics on the website. A Ruoccos wood fired pizza and a glass of red await us after the dive. The meeting point is the corners of McTaggart Cove and Robb Road. McTaggart Cove forms the northern boundary to the old power station. If you go past the old power station you've gone too far. Meeting time is 09:00
Alternative site Woodmans Point.
